HeadBy Samuel Gamburg
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 2.—(INS)—

A movement designed to make Pennsylvania's nine million residents "healthier and happier" gained momentum in the state today.The drive to improve the commonwealth's already high health standards was being sparked by the newly-formed Pennsylvania Health Council, headed by Dr. Gilson Colby Engel, of Philadelphia.Dr. Engel, former president of the state medical society and a noted surgeon, told International News Service that the council has adopted as its slogan: "Better health for the citizens of Pennsylvania.""The status of the physical, mental and moral health of a community," he declared, "is the barometer of the progress and happiness of its citizens."Dr. Engel asserted that the council believes "there are many health projects in Pennsylvania that need attention." He added:"A recent health survey made in Pennsylvania by the American Public Health Association brought out the fact that many desirable changes are needed to give better health in the state."The council was formed in Harrisburg last September by some 70 groups invited to discuss the status of the commonwealth's health standards by the Pennsylvania Medical Society.Dr. Engel said that the council has formulated a seven-point plan of objectives to help make Pennsylvania "the healthiest state in the nation."He listed the council's health platform as follows:(1) To bring together medical, allied professional and other interested groups for discussion and interchange of opinions and planning in health fields.(2) To work to prevent overlap-ing and duplication of effort.(3) To study health needs of the commonwealth through appraisals, inventories and other fact-finding activities.

into the Farmers National Bank of Bucks Co., and throwing on the counter some confederate notes and a bank note for $1, issued by the Farmers Bank of Bucks Co. dated August 1, 1861, asked: "Are they any good?"Cashier John C. Johnson, examining the notes, replied "Well, this one is," indicating the Farmers Bank note. The signatures on the note were those of A. Burton, president; and R. C. Beatty, cashier. The $1 was immediately paid without any question.In 1908, a similar note for $10 was sent in for redemption by H. C. Fisher of Anson, Texas.
This note was dated 1815. A like note was sent in from Lan-heavily travelled intersection was brought about, it is stated, at the request of the various industries that employees were made late resolution to the traffic bottleneck

The son of an internationally known author was killed accidentally by a bullet from his own rifle while target practicing at Harvard University's indoor athletic building Monday.Michael Zilahi, 18, of Brooklyn, N. Y., a Harvard honor freshman, was wounded fatally as he rose from a prone to kneeling position.
The bullet from the .22 caliber rifle pierced his forehead.His father, Lajos Zilahi, is the author of "The Dukays," a bestseller published last January. The family came to this country from Hungary three years ago. Young Zilahi was attending Harvard on a full scholarship. He prepared for college at George School.Elmer Allehouse, better known as "Davey" and 87 years old, who lives near Point Pleasant, shot an eight-point buck on Monday. The deer, which weighed 135 pounds, was about 300 yards from the occaganian hunter's house.The hunter, a former artisan well driller, said the buck was shot in Plumstead township after he had been hunting about three-quarters of an hour."I have shot deer in Pike and Potter counties, but I certainly got a thrill out of shooting this one so near home," he said.Mrs. Philip Smith accompanied her class of 24 members of Shoemaker School, Elkins Park, to Newtown Friends Boarding Home, where the young people presented an original play in five scenes.This play was produced after the young people had made a study of William Penn's association with the Quakers and his acquisition of the colony of Pennsylvania.The group also stopped to see Wrightstown Friends' Meeting House and the starting point of the famous Walking Purchase.

The trip was made by school bus.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

Mr. Steelman reported that $72-842,508 of Federal buying in critical unemployment areas had worked so well that this form of pump-priming should be used on a "vigorous basis.""Spectacular" gains by the "sectional" welfare funds of unions are having "harmful effects" on the broad Federal welfare program, a public welfare workers' convention in Washington was told.Plans to educate Congress and the people to a realization that this country must buy more goods from Marshall Plan nations or send them more dollars are being studied by the State Department.The Defense Ministers of the 12 North Atlantic treaty nations unanimously agreed in Paris on a "statistic concept" for defense of the area, an arms production program and co-ordinated planning of the five regional groups. Secretary Johnson and General Bradley started back to the United States after the meeting.The United Nations General Assembly overwhelmingly adopted a Western motion calling on member nations to observe the Charter and their treaties faithfully as the best guarantee of peace. The vote was 53 to 5, the Soviet bloc casting the negative votes and Yugoslavia ab-staining. The Assembly then buriedThe Soviet proposal for a Big Five non-aggression pact.Despite a lack of Western support, Nationalist China will not withdraw her motion calling on member nations not to recognize the Communist regime, Dr. Tsiang, head of the delegation, announced.Britain said she would refuse political data on colonial areas to the United Nations and would not comply with "misguided" and incompetent policies.

GETS JAIL TERM FOR DRUNKEN DRIVINGCether Thomas To Serve Two To 12 Months In County Prison

JUDGE LECTURES HIM

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 2.—Cether Thomas, 40, Philadelphia, who pleaded guilty to drunken driving and figuring in a tractor-trailer and two-car crash near Parkland, July 1, was sentenced to serve not less than two nor more than 12 months in the County Prison by Judge Edward G. Biester.The defendant, who had been involved in another accident on November 1, when several passengers who were riding with him threw bottles of wine out of the vehicle, denied that he had been drinking at that time."Surely, while awaiting this trial the Court thinks you should have been more cautious than to have another accident, or have people with you who carry wine around with them," Judge Biester said.State Policeman Andrew J. Kut-eny, of Langhorne, who investigated the accident, testified William Cummings' car was damaged $800 and Linfield Criss' car was damaged $300. The defendant's tractor trailer was damaged $200.

For Poultry At AuctionSOLEBURY, Dec. 2.—With Thanksgiving over, it was found at the sale on the property of the Rice brothers, Tuesday, that the demand for poultry was not too strong. The supply was quite large, but the birds sold rather slowly and at figures that were inclined to favor the buyers.Approximately 800 persons attended the sale, proceeds of which amounted to $4,452.98. The sale of poultry totaled $2,042.73, and the livestock sales amounted to $1-788.39. There was a fair demand for cows, but less than 50 per cent of the pigs offered changed ownership.Livestock prices were as follows: five cows, $89 to $165; two heifers, $50 and $80; thirteen calves, $1.50 to $14 each and 14 to 22½ cents a pound; three bulls $72.50 to $85; three sheep, $11.25 to $15, and eight goats, $1.25 to $6.75.BRISTOL STORES ARE

DECORATION FOR XMASMrs. Leon Baker Demonstrates How Variety of Items Can Be So Used

AT SOROSIS MEETING

LANGHORNE, Dec. 2.—Demonstration of the assembling of a Christmas table decoration by Mrs.
Leon Baker delighted members of Sorosis yesterday, when they gathered in Langhorne library. Mrs.
Baker displayed such a centerpiece which she had previously made, then proceeded to make one like it by use of evergreen tips, wire, Christmas balls, candles, florist's clay, sparkle material, etc. One portion was a poinsettia made of mil-kweed pods painted red and used as petals, the center of the flower being a gum-tree ball.The president of the women's club, Mrs. Horace Townsend, gave a talk on the origin of Christmas cards, trees, Santa Claus and carols.
She informed that cards originated in England during the reign of Queen Ann, the purpose of the greetings being to develop penmanship among the children of the land.
She told that the Christmas tree idea was brought to the United States by German and English settlers early in the 19th century. The custom was introduced to England from Germany to Albert, husband of Queen Victoria. Mrs. Townsend mentioned that the national Christmas tree in this country is the General Grant sequoia in California.That the United States version of Santa Claus is of Dutch origin was another piece of news given; Mrs.
Townsend mentioning that the bountiful person of other countries is represented in different ways.
England was mentioned as the "home" of the Christmas carols.Mrs. Edward Pickering, another club member, read an article telling of the use of candles at Christ-

WORLD AIR VOCABULARY

Sitting around an airport controller tower, the person with an untrained ear has good reason to ponder how tower operators succeed in unscrambling the mass of berish and static that comes in from planes aloft. He is puzzled, often, how a pilot with one, two or three engines roaring at his elbow in all manner of atmospheric disturbances clouding his receiving channel understands what the tower is trying to tell him.

Other variables, such as foreign accents, sloppy diction, northern drawls and southern drawls, further complicate the problem of receiving the thin thread of communication intact.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration, with the specter of the nation's worst air crash at Washington still fresh in its memory, is under way a study out of which may come a standard "air vocabulary" for air to air and air ground communication.

The CAA knows that 75 percent of all air mishaps are due to word failure, and that "word confusion" may have been the cause of the collision over the National Airport on November 1. It feels that a drastic cleanup of communications procedures may be the only means of lowering the accident curve in the face of booming air traffic.

War-time research by the three armed services has done much to streamline communication chatter, certain words and word patterns over the air better and are less confusing than others. Starting with these, the CAA will build a standard vocabulary, bit by bit, until it is broad enough to take almost, if not all situations that might arise. Once a standard word list is in hand, the CAA will work for international recognition of it, so that it will become a universal communications code, much like the international signal flags used at sea.

The importance of this project something that cannot be underestimated. Pilots and aircraft ground and airborne navigational instruments have succeeded in taking much of the human error out of taking off and landing safely in all sorts of weather, but there is still no gadget available to replace the human ear and comprehension in receiving a message and translating it into action.

There is a movement for free flying in Britain. Many a high school graduate is already a controller.

Women are showing improvement in many ways. It has been a long time since a wronged gal was seduced with a pistol.

It is possible many men became successful just to show father-in-law he was mistaken in his opinion of them.

The picture entitled "The Sickle or the Cross" was produced by the Lutheran Laymen's League, Missouri Synod, and is one of several which this organization has produced in the past. In production of this film, three things were said to be uppermost in the minds of the producers: "1. To show one of the many ways in which communists work and to what end they will go to accomplish their purpose; 2. To show that we have and find communists where we least expect them; 3. To show that the Word of God is the only successful weapon to combat communism."

Bristol Stores Are Stocked To "Brims"

...writers and moving picture machines, and so on ad infinitum.
There, no doubt, are several people seeking a gift for the "one and only" person in the world as far as they are concerned, who will select a fine watch or a diamond or emerald ring; young couples anxious to make their home more complete will have their minds on electric equipment — their "gift to each other"; while thoughts of individuals whose pocketbooks hold none too much will turn to warm clothing for the children.
Be that as it may, Bristol merchants are ready for the Christmas sales, which they claim had an early start this year. They are pleased with that, for it means that the annual task can be carried out not only more leisurely for the shopper and merchant, but the holiday season will be more of a joy and less of a burden.
Many persons these days have trained themselves to start weeks before Christmas on their gift list, when as the items are purchased, with supply of wrapping paper, ribbon, and seals also bought early, they are gift-wrapped and put safely away to await the time for mailing, or bestowal on Christmas eve.
The time is getting particularly short for those sending packages overseas or at a distance from Bristol. It is not necessary to wait until the last minute. Visit the Bristol store area now, complete the sales and wrap the items. Mark the package plainly "Open Dec. 25th," and ship it at once. This will assure better care in transit, early delivery, and joyous days of anticipation on the part of the one whom it reaches in plenty of time for the holiday season.

Is your list incomplete? Is there a question in your mind as to what to buy Aunt Minnie, little "Bobby," tiny "Sue," or Uncle Fred? Will this list of suggestions help?
For the women and girls (bless 'em): Blouses, dresses, house slippers, hosiery, unmentionables, jewelry, snap-shot albums, cameras, sweaters, household items, yarns and knitting equipment, phonograph records, slips.
For the men or boys: Socks, belts, ties, tie pins and cuff links, shaving needs, wallets, jackets and sweaters, automobile accessories, gloves, watches, pipes and tobacco, shirts, radios.
For the little tots: Dolls and carriages, doll houses and furnishings, painting sets, cut-out books, building sets and blocks, footballs, badminton sets, tricycles or "bikes," play-clothes or those for Sunday-best, trains, etc.
STARTS TREND
CHICAGO, — (INS) — The Hoover Commission, which studied federal government reorganization needs, has started a trend. The Council of State Government says at least 23 states and the territories of Hawaii and Puerto Rico have similar studies underway.

Tips On Buying New Playthings

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.
IS a stuffed bear or cat almost as big as the youngster who plays with it a very superior toy because of its size? Is it as valuable as five or more stuffed toys whose aggregate cost would be no greater than the cost of this big one? Is it any more valuable than a bear or cat a fifth as large?
Is a very large toy car or truck five times as valuable for a toy as a car or truck costing a fifth as much, in case both are equally sturdy? Do very large blocks for home toys have five times the value for playthings as blocks a fifth as large?
Much may be said for very large blocks for a large kindergarten room where children can build a house big enough to enter and to walk about inside with ease. Hollow blocks are often made for this purpose, though large blocks afford more muscular exercise and experience at lifting.
Large Toys
A few very large toys on which children can ride and in which they can haul things seem to be very good for the kindergarten. Also there should be many smaller blocks and things to move about, manipulate and build with, like spools and dominoes and checker men, even some small toy cars and trucks, miniature tea sets and the like. Children using these smaller things at school or home at creative play seem more inclined to employ the imagination. Perhaps the nearer to life size a plaything is the less it stimulates the imagination, as a rule.
Kindergartens which can't afford the very large blocks and wheel toys need not be too much discouraged. A few very large blocks can be homemade and many smaller play-

Plan To Improve Health Conditions In The State

(4) To develop a state health program related to the needs.

(5) To stimulate public interest in health problems and their solution through an educational program.

(6) To express itself with strength and authority on matters of health legislation; to further sound measures and to defeat objectionable ones.

(7) To render to members common services in the field of statistics and research on community education.

Dr. Engel said "it would be foolish to think that the state's health standards could not be improved. The medical profession, he added, recognizes its responsibility for providing leadership in assuring better health for the American people."

"We realize, too," Dr. Engel declared, "that good health is not solely dependent on medical services, but on nutrition, housing, education, and many other factors as well."

Dr. Engel called upon every Pennsylvania community to "develop a program in its particular area for better health."

"Through cooperative effort," he said, "the professional and lay groups will attain far greater health goals than could be attained by groups working alone."

The council, he explained, is designed to "save duplication of effort and will make a strong, unified front to improve the health of the citizens of Pennsylvania."

What you should know about Christmas

CHARLES DICKENS was in debt, as poor as the Cratchits, when he wrote A Christmas Carol, in October, 1843. It was an immediate and profitable success. He wrote 12 other Christmas stories, but none became popular.

group is the removal of the amusement tax on all school activities of all the schools of Bristol.

"Anything pertaining to the welfare of children is the business of P.T.A.," Mrs. Johnson concluded. Mrs. Lewis pointed out that the PTA "is not a mother's club; is not a fund raising agency; is not a booster club; is not a self-appointed board of education; is not a partisan organization; and is not a grievance society."

Among the projects of the local group is the establishment of a dental clinic in Bristol for underprivileged children. One of the guests present at the meeting, Warren P. Snyder, superintendent of Bristol public schools, outlined the progress made on this project.

David Hertzler, Bristol high school principal, was also among the guests, as was A. Kurtz King, superintendent of Bensalem township high school. Guests were also present from Bristol, Harrisburg, Minnesota, Michigan and Morrisville, with president William J. Begley in charge of the meeting.

He announced that the prize for the person holding the lucky name tag from the November meeting would be a credit of $5 on a Christmas turkey. He also stated that ten books have been donated to be given the first ten people on their feet with questions and opinions following the panel discussion. The books contain favorite selections from famous authors.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

A SWITCH in time from overly familiar dishes to seldom-sampled ones is certain to prevent dulling of your family's appetite. Inevitably, having grown tired of certain meals, the family reacts favorably when served an unusual menu.
Savory stuffed beef heart completely fills the bill for such an occasion, particularly when prepared according to recommendations of the A & P Service for Homemakers. In selecting the meat be certain your butcher realizes you want a beef heart and not that of lamb or veal.

First trim away surplus fat at heart's top and the hard parts inside. Then wash in warm water and sew the cut together, leaving a natural cavity for receiving the dressing. Prepare a stuffing which consists of two cups of cooked rice, one cup of canned tomatoes, one small minced onion, one small minced green pepper, one teaspoon of salt and a bit of pepper. Fill the heart with this stuffing and sew or skewer it together.
Rub it with combination of two tablespoons of flour and two of butter. Place the meat in a baking pan, cover with four strips of bacon and bake in a moderate (375°F.) oven for about 45 minutes. Baste frequently with reserved liquid. Served sliced, it provides six ample portions. Also feature cream of tomato soup, baked potatoes, brown sugar glazed carrots, cottage cheese balls rolled in chopped chives and, for dessert, your family's favorite Jane Parker pie.

Mr. and Mrs. George Baker, Jr., and family, had as Sunday dinner guests the Rev. and Mrs. Samuel Gaskell and daughter Dorothy, Tullytown; the Rev. Hillary Finch, of Russell, Ky.; and the Rev. J. Grady Peters, Eden, Texas.
Mr. and Mrs. William Mobile, Langhorne, were Saturday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Liszewski.
Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Coughlan and Miss Gertrude O'Neill, Princeton, N. J., were recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles O'Neill, Mrs. Ida Chase, Trenton, N. J., visited the O'Neills on Saturday.

SPORTSMEN'S BRIEFS

BY JOE ELBERSON

No reports... In spite of the fact that the 1949 deer season is now five days old, there are no complete reports to indicate the kill so far this season. This is accounted for because most of the men who hunt the big woods stay at least a week, and they will not be back until this week-end. Have talked to a score of fellows who went up for two or three days. Most of them saw deer. Some of them got some shooting. But none of these few returned with a prize.

Meeting... next Monday evening, December 5, the last meeting for 1949 of the Bucks County Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs will be held in Doylestown. Year-end reports will be heard and plans completed for the annual meeting, scheduled for early January. All clubs are urged to have their delegates on hand for the meeting which will get underway at 8 o'clock.

Just about over... with the closing of the season on bass and pickerel yesterday the 1949 fishing season is just about finished. Non-game fish are still in season, but the major portion of the time spent by local anglers is for bass and pickerel. And with the closing of the game-fish season comes the knowledge that a feminine angler, Mrs. J. Suppers, Bristol, will be for the first time in the history of the Bristol Fish & Game Protective Association, the winner of the important bass division of the annual contest sponsored by the Association for its members.

About bears... though early reports will likely be revised upward later, the kill of legal bears in the 1949 Pennsylvania season was placed at 430 by Game Commission officials.

With fewer hunters pursuing bruiser this season, and no snow to assist them until the last of the season, the bear harvest is considered a good one in the Keystone State.

Twenty-five cub bears were reported killed in the season just ended. One official commented: "That's twenty-five too many, yet it is heartening to note that a large percentage of persons who killed the little fellows admit their error and settled with game protectors. It would seem that sportsmanship is taking hold."

Deer season... the Game Commission has announced that the investigation of the petitions offered by nine counties seeking to abrogate the 1949 antlerless deer season, December 10, has been completed.

Those from Clarion and Pike counties failed to comply with the requirements of the law. Following the advice of the Department of Justice they were thrown out.

Therefore, the antlerless deer season, as declared by the Commission, will be in effect in all but the following seven counties who were successful in having the season closed: Bedford, Clearfield, Forest, Fulton, Franklin, Greene and Perry.

The "black" season closes at 5:00 p. m. on December 9. Persons who hunted as individuals, and who failed to take a buck may, while hunting as individuals, kill a doe on December 10.

Anyone who has participated in any manner with a group that killed six deer during the antlerless deer season may not hunt, kill or attempt to kill an antlerless deer.

Look twice... the public has been forced to realize (no complaint to the human race) that humans look like woodchucks, for again last summer several Pennsylvanians were shot because they reportedly resembled these animals.

Now it becomes almost clear why a man is sometimes called an "old duck." Recently, a hunter in Northeastern Pennsylvania was shot "in mistake for a duck!"

22 EARN THEIR LETTERS IN SEASON JUST COMPLETED

Twenty-two players of the Bristol High gridiron team earned their letters in the recently completed season which saw the Warriors win seven games and lose four. The Warriors scored 170 points during the season while holding their opponents to 123.

Of the number of points counted by the Bristol opponents, 65 went to Morrisville and Trenton Catholic in the two games played. Bristol had the distinction of scoring on every foe. Its victories were scored over Hathoro, Bridgeport, Council Rock, St. Francis, Burlington, Bensalem, and Pennsbury while the losses came from Trenton Catholic, Morrisville, Langhorne, and Conshohocken.

Those who earned their varsity letters were Frank Rich, Joe Dominick, Herbert Welda, Charles Miller, Allan Goulding, Graccon White, Pat Field, Frank Rubino, Joe Liberator, Ned Albright, Angelo Giagnacova, William Gratz, Alfred Daniel, Marty Braam, Sam Petrizzi, William Moll, Herman Welker, Norman Sorenson, Harry Eisenbrey, Dave Dunkelberger, William Condit, and Joe Wallick.

Coach Harry McClister is mourning the fact that out of the above letter-winners only four will be back next season, the rest will graduate or be ineligible because of too many semesters of schooling. The quartet who will return are: Giagnacova, Gratz, Rubino, and Albright, all linemen.

In discussing his plans for next season Coach McClister has practically decided on converting Bill Gratz into a fullback and switch Albright to a guard position. Several of the linemen from this season's Jayvees will make fine varsity material next season although there seems to be a scarcity of backfield material unless some of the boys shifting from Bristol Township Junior High come through.

The 1950 schedule of Bristol has been cut a game to ten, seven of which will be played on the home gridiron.

The schedule follows.

30 REPORT TO HIGH SCHOOL COACH FOR THE COURT SEASON

Thirty candidates have reported to Coach Jerry Bloom as the Bristol High Warriors prepare for their 1949-50 basketball season.

Time is drawing close for the opening tilt of the Bristol team so Coach Bloom has scheduled daily practice in the afternoon and on Saturday morning. Bristol's inaugural game will be with Reading Catholic on Friday evening, Dec. 9, at home.

Those who were among the first ten last season are: Frank Rich, Frank Barbetta, Marty Braam, Joe Pindar and "Vic" Cauti. Junior varsity players who look good in the practice drills are Harry Eisenbrey, Charles Rausch, Bob Konefal, William Condit, and Howard Grant.

Although none of the positions are clinched, these boys seem destined to be carried on the varsity team. Coach Bloom's intention is to carry 15 players on his varsity squad.
